By signing this form I/we agree that any mortgage certificates stored in the Owners Archive be moved to Lantmäteriet, Fastighetsinskrivning.

Keep in mind that

- If you are married, in most cases the consent of your spouse/partner is required. If the property is your separate property, you may enclose a document showing that no consent is required, such as a deed of gift or will confirming this. A prenuptial agreement can be enclosed unless the property is the most recent joint residence.
- If you are divorced, but were married in the period when you owned the property, a consent may still be needed from your former spouse/partner. If the property is your separate property, you may enclose a document showing that no consent is required, such as a deed of gift or will confirming this. If the property is subject to division of joint property due to a divorce, you may enclose a copy of the deed of division of joint property.
- If there is a reservation noted on your deed, this may mean that you cannot mortgage the property without somebody's consent. You will then need to enclose a copy of the acquisition document showing the inscribed reservation and a document proving that the reservation has been fulfilled. This may, for example, be the consent to the mortgage or a document showing that the reservation is no longer applicable.
- When cancelling or replacing hard copy mortgage certificates, you must submit them together with the application. Digital mortgage certificates must be transferred to the archive of the Land Registration Division when the application is submitted.
- If the applicant is a legal person, please enclose a registration certificate showing the authorised signatories.
- If the application relates to a record of possession for existing mortgage certificates, the application must be signed by the holder.
- If you want to record possession of digital mortgage certificates, you need to have a submission number.
- If you have borrowed money from a private individual or a small business and the lender wants a hard copy mortgage certificate as collateral for the loan, the lender can apply for a new mortgage. Keep in mind that since you hold the title deeds to the property, you must sign the application. It is especially important that you indicate the lender should be the invoice recipient and that you wish a hard copy mortgage certificate, otherwise the Land Registration Division will issue a digital mortgage certificate that the lender cannot access.
- Please check that all information in the application is correctly filled in.
- If you, as the property owner, are connected to My messages, you will receive a confirmation that the application has been received. If you are also the invoice recipient, the notification and the invoice will be sent to My messages.
